

Veille technologique – Menu Maker by Qwenta

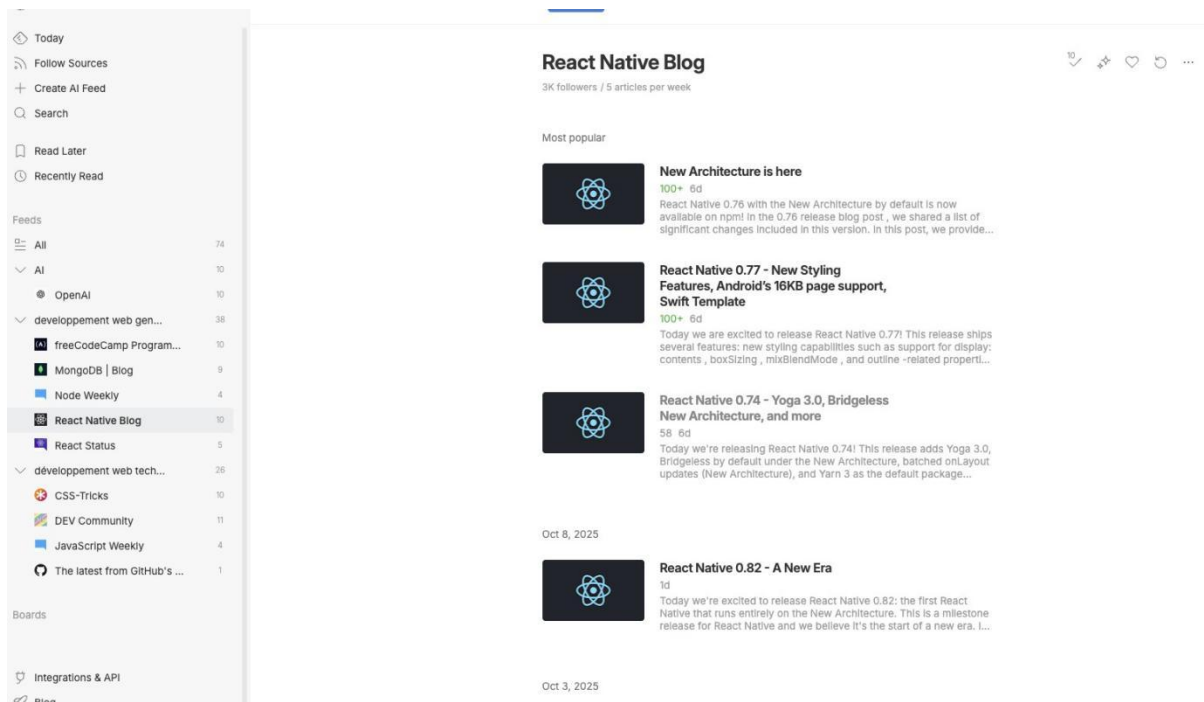

Outil utilisé : Feedly

L'outil Feedly me permet de centraliser plusieurs flux RSS pour suivre les actualités du développement web et des technologies utilisées dans le projet Menu Maker.

Axe 1 – Technologies du projet

Ce flux regroupe les sources liées aux technologies du projet : React, Redux Toolkit, Node.js, MongoDB, et JWT.
